We would also like to promote our other ongoing events during Brain Awareness Week:

Tuesday, March 11th – Friday, March 14th

Outreach to Local Students
Please help us teach workshops to educate elementary through high school students about neuroscience. Information sessions will be held to train volunteers to lead these classes.

To volunteer, contact Haley Carpenter at haley381@ufl.edu

Annual Neuroscience Art Competition with cash prizes!

To submit your creation, contact kim.hawkins88@ufl.edu
Tuesday, March 11th
Continuing Medical Education and Department of Neurology Seminar
"Acute Stroke Management"

Learn about pre-hospital stroke management, in patient stroke management, and stroke systems of care with Christina Wilson, M.D., Ph.D.

University of Florida Continuing Medical Education and the Department of Neurology is honored to present

“Acute Stroke Management”
Presented by: Dr. Christina Wilson
UF Health Comprehensive Stroke Program
Tuesday, March 11, 2014
4:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Room C1-7

Learning Objectives:
Participants will be able to discuss pre-hospital management of stroke
Participants will be able to discuss in-patient management of stroke
Participants will be able to discuss stroke systems of care

CME Information:

Accreditation:
The University of Florida College of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council of Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit:
The University of Florida College of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 1.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Section Number: 4278

Thursday, March 13th
In Collaboration with Institute on Aging
Documentary Screening of "You're Looking at Me Like I Live Here and I don't"

Come take part in a unique documentary about living with Alzheimer's by director Scott Kirshenbaum and post-film panel discussion regarding caregiver resources. The film originally aired on PBS’s Emmy award-winning Series Independent Lens.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROGRAM

A Special Documentary Screening
Director, Scott Kirshenbaum

Thursday, March 13th, 2014, 6:00pm

In honor of Brain Awareness Week, PBS's Emmy award-winning series Independent Lens will offer a special screening of this acclaimed documentary.

About the Film: A total immersion into the fragmented day-to-day experience of mental illness, You're Looking at Me Like I Live Here and I Don't is the first documentary filmed exclusively in a unit specifically for care of those with Alzheimer's & other dementias. It is a touching account of Lee Gorewitz's life, her penetrating ruminations and charismatic vitality. Here is the journey of a woman who will not let us forget her -- even as she struggles to remember herself.

The screening will be followed by a panel discussion exploring the intersection of medical research in the field, the arts, social services, and the quality of life of individuals living with Alzheimer's disease and other dementia.

Where: The Village in Gainesville
A Santa Fe Senior Living Community
8000 NW 27th Boulevard, Gainesville, FL 32606
Screening will be held in the grand ballroom, Free parking available

RSVP: 352-548-3540

Guests Panelist: Laurence M. Solberg, MD, Chief, Division of Geriatric Medicine, UF; Ronald A. Cohen, PhD, Director, Cognitive Aging and Memory Clinical Translational Research Program, UF; Kenneth M. Heilman, MD, Director, Memory Disorders Clinics, Center for Neuropsychological Studies, Behavioral Neurology-Neuropsychiatry Fellowship Program, UF; Glen R. Finney, MD, Co-Director, Memory and Cognitive Disorders Program, UF; David R. Borcht, PhD, Director, Santa Fe Health Alzheimer's Disease Research Center, UF, and filmmaker Scott Kirshenbaum.

Please forward any questions to NFLSfNChapter@gmail.com
Visit our Facebook Page at https://www.facebook.com/groups/ncfsfn/